

Volunteers of America Joins Centrex Rehab as Third Owner

Centrex Rehab is honored to announce a new development that allows the company to nearly double in size and reach more people who need care than ever before.

On February 1, Centrex will be joined by another owner when Volunteers of America (VOA) buys into the company. This decision is the result of a close alignment between the missions of Centrex Rehab, existing owners Augustana Care and Ebenezer and Volunteers of America. Joining with VOA will strengthen Centrex Rehab's mission to provide quality based services to meet individual clients' needs and enhance their abilities to live their best lives.
